

More doors.

Having more doors allows the refrigerator to release less cold air each time it is opened. The doors are aligned with each shelf. Less cold air lost means less energy used to replace the lost air.

