

Who's That Girl? Madonna Looks Different!

The Material Girl's not dishing, but the 53-year-old's face looks a whole lot fresher

When Madonna hit the W.E. premiere on Sept. 12, fans were floored. The singer — who has recently looked wrinkled and fatigued — was suddenly fresh-faced and crease-free. “Her face appears exceedingly smooth, likely due to a combination of Botox, chemical peels and filler injections like Restylane,” notes plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn. She also had her tooth gap filled, “which gets rid of wrinkles on the upper lip and helps create a younger look,” cosmetic dentist Dr. Lana Rozenberg tells Life & Style. Plastic surgeon Dr. Andrew Jacono thinks the difference is unmistakable: “She looks like she’s in her early 40s!” LS

Before

Gone is the gaunt, drawn look, says Dr. Steven Dayan, though he believes Madge had a face-lift and derma-brasion even here.

After

“Madonna’s a prime example of how plastic surgery can allow someone to look naturally youthful,” says Dr. Youn, but cautions Dr. Dayan, “It’s more than I’d recommend for my patients.”

EVEN FASHIONISTAS MAKE MISTAKES

At only 21, TAYLOR SWIFT went from girlie girl to grandma in the ivory tea-length dress she wore on Sept. 13. While an edgier fashionista might have pulled off the trendy crochet number, this sweet-as-sugar star is giving us a toothache.

Fans can still try eBay, where $30 flats are going for $70 and a $40 throw is fetching $163!

Did You Get Yours? Missoni for Target Sells Out Fast

Blink and it was gone: Target’s latest collaboration, with Italian designer Missoni, left even Black Friday sales in the dust. Heavy traffic crashed the store’s website when the line debuted, and the entire zigzag stock was cleared out by the end of the day. Now it’s selling on eBay for more than four times the original price! Even celebs were mad about the multicolor merch. “I dreamed about the Missoni for Target bike last night,” Jessica Alba said.

What a Pro! Kim Balances on 10-Inch Heels

Step aside, Lady Gaga! KIM KARDASHIAN’s strutting her stuff in some impressively high heels of her own. The reality star sat front-row at New York Fashion Week in a pair of 10-inch Thierry Mugler platforms that tested her balance — and earned a perfect score for style. “I was so nervous all night wearing them!” Kim admits. “I didn’t want to trip!”
