WHAT IS iPACE?

iPace is a new degree completion program for learners who want the opportunity to finish what they started. The program features blended learning which combines both an online and in-person curriculum. For working people who want to get ahead, the iPace program offers a superior and convenient learning environment.

One of the many reasons to consider expanding your education, whether it is through a BBA in Business or a BS in Professional Technology, is to experience the excitement of learning new information while expanding your current knowledge base. Another is to provide new avenues for your life's journey, to open doors of possibility you may have never dreamed of.

Still another is to sharpen your technical or training skills for your current job or to ensure you qualify for a raise and perhaps transform your skill-set to move to a different career track entirely. Your dreams and aspirations are important and so is the correct and most expedient way to make them a reality.

WHY CHOOSE BLENDED LEARNING?

Blended learning provides the best of both worlds, the convenience of studying online and the important human context of other students and professors. That kind of control allows you to choose how and when you learn most effectively which is [often] the best recipe for success.

The online portion of your coursework translates to personal choice; you are free to adjust your study time around your job, family or other activities. Participating in a classroom environment allows you to discuss the content with other online learners and interact with your instructors so that your confidence level upon completion of your courses and degree will be at the highest level possible.

Another important factor is that the costs associated with finishing your degree at iPace are demonstrably lower than other venues. An iPace education is extremely affordable.

WHY PACE UNIVERSITY?

Taking courses from iPace means the information you receive is industry current, consistent with what other professionals learn and know. Material is constantly updated to reflect the changing dynamics of each field of study. That presents a level playing field so you can define your own rate of success when you put your new knowledge to work in the world.
