Celtic Carving of a Dragon

14th Century Carving

12th century Carving

The Levisham project was to create an exhibition on the Mystery of the church in the valley. The teams budget was £300, which paid for materials and traveling costs.

As part of the team I was asked to do the illustrations above and to the right. The 14th Century carving and the illustrated reconstruction were used in the final exhibition, which I helped construct.
