

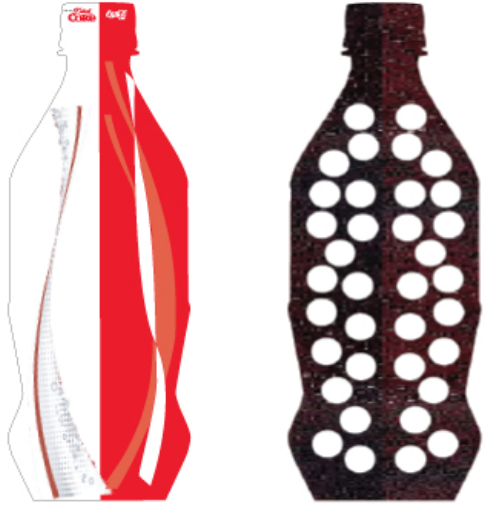

Graphics Panels

Presented Concept

In the presented concept major changes were made to the main center panel to save valuable commercial floor space and promote a more aesthetically pleasing form. All panels were bolted together via machine bolts but could be constructed more efficiently via simple rivets which would also save production costs.

Eastman's Web Site

