

When in doubt, ask others...

Is there a problem with the cooler as it stands today? Can I turn an ordinary experience into something better? Several people were asked about their experiences with water coolers and most of them had something to say.

"When I want to fill my own jug of water, I hate having to bend over to hold my jug while it fills."

"I have been appointed as the one that changes the water jug around here, most people don't want to deal with the hassle."

"It usually takes two girls to switch to a full water jug and not without a lot of spilling. It's too heavy, it's too high, and you have to be quick so you don't make a huge mess."
