

The Warhol Cut

Before

Start cut by taking a parting from the temple continue past the crown to a point to one side of the back head shape. Spray hair with Senscience Moisturizing Mist.

Your angle will depend on the thickness of hair and the head shape. Take a parting from the opposite temple and join with your original part.

Lifting the underneath section out, from the center of the head, decide your preferred length for the shape you are building and cut your first guide. Note: The center is not in line with your triangle parting, which sits off center.

Moving to the side section, bring your first section back to the last section at the ear and cut your guide. Continue to over-direct your sections back to the first section, until you run out of hair. Repeat on the opposite side.

Moving to the front of the head, take a section from the temple to the longest point of your over-directed side.

Firmly holding section cut from your longest point up to the temple, continue through the side sections until you run out of hair. Repeat on the opposite side. Once you have completed your interior shape, blow dry entire hair using Volume Boost and your Denman brush.
