

PUBLIC FACE
The Public Authority for Civil Information is a replacement for an adjacent outdated facility. The very large footprint is needed for the mass quantities of people coming to the site for their updated ID's. Even though the final ID production is handled by machines, the very complicated background check requires a large amount of administrative support. The building will be a prominent landmark in a rapidly expanding commercial and public office building park. The architectural language is meant to evoke a vision of a modern, rapidly developing Kuwait.

PROJECT DATA

size	20,000 sm
cost	Unknown
Program	Card processing, Card Distribution space, Mosque, General Waiting space
Principal	Jerrel Angel
Project Manager	Jerrel Angel
Project Role	3d model, assisted in concept design and planning, produced all renderings

