

Location...location...location...

The three most important factors in engagement.

Knowing precisely where hostile forces are located is key to the battlefield commander. The capability for long range precision targeting has become the defining element in assuring information superiority.

TRW's "Deep Look" precision targeting systems deliver integrated, real-time intelligence, providing unparalleled support to 21st century operations.

For two decades as DoD's premier supplier of real-time targeting and direction-finding systems, TRW has been the system of choice on military platforms the world over.

Systems from TRW. When location means everything.
