

THE CHALLENGE:

The challenge was to capture market share by developing a new model that would fill a void in the product line up and help Hallett reach more customers. The new boat needed to have fresh styling to capture the brands trademarks and established better cohesiveness within the product line. The result was a fully designed and hand built “plug” for manufacturing that debuted in early 2012 and has become a best seller.