

04.1 FUNGHI

This glass “Funghi” is composed of two main parts. The different heads and the base. Altogether would make a shape which evokes like a bunch of mushrooms, from where the name has been inspired.

The head “cap” of the mushroom would be fitted onto the stem. However the stem and the base are fixed, so they are just one piece.

This project was made for Bombay Sapphire. As this brand transmits, Funghi was behind of a pure, attractive and unique shape which is evoked to the nature.

All the lines are spontaneous trying to follow the nature, also all the glasses are different. So all the users can choose which one they like the most or which size is better for them. Also Funghi makes a differentiation among the users because of the fact that each one can enjoy their drink in a different glass.
