"You get what you put into it"

My personal experience has been fulfilled to the fullest with every single event I have attended. I have never left empty handed... always cool stuff to take home! The people that you can network with can influence your day and work to be better. I have become more knowledgeable about the projects that I am working on through broadening my horizons. From the sushi we must consume pre or post every event, to the meeting of live-in designers that run Winterhouse who were guided by the great Paul Rand. Each event has been a great experience to remember with great friends I will never forget.
