

Dakine has produced a pair of softshell hoodie jackets this season, the Airlift for men and the Transit for women, that very competitively priced at $130 and $120, respectively. Our testers found that these 10K waterproof/breathable soft shells were very effective at blocking wind and made an excellent outer garment for skiing in moderate climates. Both are stylish and the women's cut is quite flattering, although our female testers would have preferred more pockets that appear in the Airlift.
