

A platform for poets, storytellers and musicians to share their works and the inspiration behind them in an intimate setting. Additionally, each evening features well-known talent. Hosted by Ber-Henda Williams with DJ Andre Royster.

Thursday, March 4, 6:30 - 8:30pm in the Auditorium featuring poet Dimonique Boyd

Dimonique Boyd is an admitted confessional poet. Though best known for her love and erotic poems, her writing delves into the socio-political, religious and hip-hop realms. She sees her poetry as both an outlet and an outreach. She is unafraid to give the most personal parts of herself to her audience because she feels it is important to be a voice for those who fear they are alone or who don't have the words to express how they feel. By popular demand, Dimonique self-published and released her first volume of poetry, This Is How I Feel: My Life in Verse.

Thursday, April 1, 6:30 - 8:30pm in the Auditorium featuring poet Sean Galvin

Sean Galvin is a graduate of both Western Michigan University and Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts. He writes poetry about the human experience, which he tends to paint with a dry, sarcastic brush. He touches on the glorious, the tragic, the annoying and the humorous. Sean's hope is that his words will move you to think and tap into your atypical emotions. His is raw poetry from a complex mind.

Individuals with special needs who plan to attend Library programs should contact the City of Southfield at 248.796.5150 (Voice) or 248.354.4831 (TDD) if auxiliary aids are needed. Reasonable advance notice is required.

A platform for poets, storytellers and musicians to share their works and the inspiration behind them in an intimate setting. Additionally, each evening features well-known talent. Hosted by Ber-Henda Williams with DJ Andre Royster.

Thursday, March 4, 6:30 - 8:30pm in the Auditorium featuring poet Dimonique Boyd

Dimonique Boyd is an admitted confessional poet. Though best known for her love and erotic poems, her writing delves into the socio-political, religious and hip-hop realms. She sees her poetry as both an outlet and an outreach. She is unafraid to give the most personal parts of herself to her audience because she feels it is important to be a voice for those who fear they are alone or who don't have the words to express how they feel. By popular demand, Dimonique self-published and released her first volume of poetry, This Is How I Feel: My Life in Verse.

Thursday, April 1, 6:30 - 8:30pm in the Auditorium featuring poet Sean Galvin

Sean Galvin is a graduate of both Western Michigan University and Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts. He writes poetry about the human experience, which he tends to paint with a dry, sarcastic brush. He touches on the glorious, the tragic, the annoying and the humorous. Sean's hope is that his words will move you to think and tap into your atypical emotions. His is raw poetry from a complex mind.

Individuals with special needs who plan to attend Library programs should contact the City of Southfield at 248.796.5150 (Voice) or 248.354.4831 (TDD) if auxiliary aids are needed. Reasonable advance notice is required.