

¡Bienvenidos Amigos!

Southwest Airlines wants to give you the official “Bienvenida” to the great city of San Diego for the annual California Hispanic Chambers of Commerce convention. On behalf of more than 2,500 California Employees, we welcome and salute you in this very special occasion.

We believe this convention is a great occasion to meet and create new opportunities for Californians. Southwest Airlines thanks you for being here and for having the vision to provide new solutions to create a sustainable economy in this challenging time for us all.

Southwest Airlines’ commitment to California goes beyond our operations; we are proud to invest in many communities organizations that work tirelessly to create a healthy environment and whose efforts truly generate economic prosperity.

Southwest Airlines operates today in nine cities in the Golden State and 69 across the nation. We currently operate more than 3,200 daily flights border to border and coast to coast.

We welcome you again to the great city of San Diego, and we wish to see you soon on one of our flights.

¡Gracias!

Gary Kelly
