

Piezoelectric Energy Harvester

A brief project to explore emerging materials in order to design an innovative product concept.

I wanted to use a new material, piezoelectric rubber, to incentivize wheat production in Afghanistan.

Initial concepts focused on harvesting energy from daily tasks

I wanted to use activities like threshing and pounding grain for energy.