

Men and Depression:

LET'S FACE IT!

Silently, millions of men in America live with the pain of depression. In recognition of National Depression Awareness Month, please join Face It for a special evening of Understanding, Friendship, and Hope.

Presented by

FACE IT

Ford Center
420 5th Street North
Minneapolis, MN

October
14TH
2012
5PM - 8PM

Special Guests:

Dr. John Adler

Neurosurgeon

John Adler, MD is a professor of neurosurgery at Stanford University and a member of the Face It Foundation Medical and Scientific Advisory Board. Dr. Adler is the inventor of the CyberKnife Robotic Radiosurgery System. The CyberKnife has been used successfully to treat cancerous and non-cancerous tumors throughout the body. Dr. Adler is now focusing his expertise in neurosurgery to utilize the CyberKnife for the treatment of severe depression. Dr. Adler will speak on the need for innovative and forward thinking approaches for the management of depression.

Mary Pat Gleason

American Actress

Mary Pat Gleason is a well known American film and television actress. Mary Pat created the Broadway play "Stopping Traffic", which is a moving and humorous look at her own experiences with the manic highs and depressing lows of life with bipolar disorder. Mary Pat's unique ability to take a serious topic such as depression and turn it upside down so we can all see the hope and humanity that exists in the face of mental illness will be sure to inspire us all.

Space is limited, reserve your FREE tickets on line at <http://menanddepression.eventbrite.com>

- Hors d'oeuvres and beverages provided
- Attire - Business Casual

