ART DECO

ARCHITECTURE
LECTURE

Between 1920 and 1940 the population of Los Angeles grew by more than one million. To meet the needs of this explosive growth, the city developed vastly and the prevailing art deco style flourished uniquely, adorned with decorative palm fronds, grape clusters, sunbursts and ocean waves, all symbols of the California arcadia.

Jeffrey Bissiri will illustrate the metamorphosis of architectural style into what we now call Art Deco on this virtual tour of a dozen buildings in the Historic Core, including the William Fox Building, Eastern Columbia, Title Guarantee & Trust and Oviatt Buildings, as well as works by architects Parkinson & Parkinson, Styles O. Clements and Claude Beelman.

Join us next door at the Pig 'n Whistle from 5:00-7:00 pm after the lecture for some appetizers and a no-host bar.

If you would like to stay for dinner at the Pig 'n Whistle please make reservations at 323-463-0000.

Special ticket price for Art Deco Society Los Angeles
