

How it works

The water containers are locked to prevent people from stealing the filter, the water container or misuse them.

One person in the village owns the key and is responsible for repairments and replacing the filter when necessary.

Research

Development

Final

Engineering

Ergonomics