

Characterisation

The decision was made to design the light and speakers as complimentary characters, which would be connected to the main base. A few iterations were explored based around a sci fi theme, to create playful and fun night time companions.

