

Development of Final Cover

I chose this image because it was feminine, editorial, and high quality. I really liked the font that I used for the last cover page because it was pretty and artistic. I chose a similar title layout to the magazine covers in my research by rotating the second word. I then experimented with colours and taking colours from the image into the title. I wanted to use no more than 3 fonts and I used subtle colours and italics to enhance the simplicity. I chose front font because it works well with the delicate photograph.
