

Siemens toaster time for a re-design project

This project was to redesign the Siemens toaster, which looked at incremental changes to really add value, here I looked at improving the currently plastic sides and replacing them with black glass panels.

