Michelle Zheng is a diligent young designer willing to go the extra mile. Apart from designing, she is a certified professional piano performer, and achieved her ARCT in performance from the Royal Conservatory of Music. She is currently completing her bachelor of industrial design, and a minor in psychology. She recently spent a month abroad immersed in Italian Design. Her artistic sensitivity, worldly perspective and technical training have provided her with skills and inspiration to benefit any design team. Michelle has developed valuable insight on group dynamics after serving as president of Carleton's Industrial Design Student Association. Her enthusiasm for learning and her openness to new experiences will make her a great asset to any organization.
