Lancaster School of Cosmetology: Hair Color 9-1-1

You got this “bright” idea to go blonde and accidentally got blue instead. Or maybe you’re feeling dull and “gray” about the silver strands playing peek-a-boo in your tresses. Perhaps you just need a change of hue to signify a new you.

Your hair is in very capable hands at the Lancaster School of Cosmetology. The students are skilled and highly trained to fix home-kit-horrors, cover gray and give hair color makeovers.

“My students are stars. They work so hard,” Says Trudi Weitzel, a clinic instructor at the school.

Weitzel is training her students to be the areas best at hair color. She teaches them techniques from her 25 years of experience, supplemented by Milady Text and the learning she continues to acquire through classes on current trends and techniques. Weitzel enjoys her job but takes it very serious.

“My students are my kids and I want them walking out of here able to make money and color is where the money is.”

The Lancaster School of Cosmetology is great for first time color changing as well as repeats and maintenance. The students are equipped to prevent and remedy color crisis. They know the hair can be damaged by the coloring process, leaving it hard and thinned without the professional intervention they are taught to provide.

The skilled assistance of the students is also great for color selection. Good color choice is based on the natural hair color, the skin and the eyes. Students are trained to help the decided and unsure make quality color decisions.

“We love when people come in and say do what ever you want,” Says Wietzel.

Lancaster School of Cosmetology students are skilled and on the cutting edge of hair color. Whether you want to go wild and crazy, stay forever young or make a subtle change, they’ve got you covered.
