

A 3D rendering of a modern lighting fixture. The central element is a rectangular panel that is tilted upwards and brightly illuminated from within, casting a warm yellow glow. Below this panel is a dark, rectangular base, also illuminated from within. The background consists of several large, semi-transparent, geometric shapes in shades of yellow and brown, creating a layered, architectural feel. The overall lighting is warm and focused on the central panel.

PANELIGHT