

Commonbird

A pigeon wants to rent a cage for skeletal support his compact body and short legs inside only for a while so his mind doesn't have to work to hold himself up but is free to frame and dream up ways to soar above the screaming of people and cars, power lines ascend into the brilliant purple skies anywhere that his melodic songs will be heard he is an extraordinary bird despite where he has been and how he is seen: A rogue with wings that shits on everything he is desperate, wants to plant his kernel in a new ground Willing to implode or destroy to crease and bend remove his insides even eviscerate himself so people will realize he only does it for attention.