South Dakota's Great Places: South Dakota Hall of Fame

There is a Great Place in South Dakota that honors the Great Faces that have made a significant impact on our culture and our state. It's the South Dakota Hall of Fame in Chamberlain.

The South Dakota Hall of Fame Museum is free to the public and offers experiences such as the Wells Fargo Theater and interactive computers. Visitors can enjoy displays of Native American artifacts, military memorabilia, and pioneer tools.

At the museum, individuals can learn fascinating facts about famous and influential people from South Dakota including:

Mary Hart – Known nationally for her work in the news and entertainment media.

Terry Redlin – Gained worldwide acclaim for his beautiful artistic work portraying nature and American life.

Tom Brokaw – Nationally recognized for his contribution to media and journalism.

Al Neuharth – Renowned as the founder of USA TODAY, the Freedom Forum and honored with the Al Neuharth Media Center in Vermillion.

Sitting Bull – The famous leader of the Hunkpapa Sioux tribe who was a man of vision, and well-respected by all who knew him.
