

FATHERS & CHILDREN

IN BUSINESS

THERE IS SOMETHING SPECIAL ABOUT A FATHER & SON OR DAUGHTER TEAM!

Deadline: Friday, June 12th
Publishes: Saturday, June 20th

Ad Size: 2 col x 7.5"

Cost: $186 or contract rate

The Daily Republic will present a special R.O.P. feature of children following in their father's footsteps. This tribute will highlight some of the area's finest businesses that all share one thing in common...

They were founded by a father who brought his children into the business.

Keith, Kyle, & Tate Crago
Keith Crago has been working at Dick's Body Shop since 1961. When he first started he worked as a body man and a wrecker driver. In 1976, Keith decided to purchase the shop from Dick Miller.
Keith's son, Kyle, also started working for the shop in 1988. After years of working for his dad, Kyle took over ownership of the shop in 2007. After Kyle took over ownership of the shop from his dad, Keith chose to stay employed with the company.
Kyle's son, Tate is a trained body technician.
Throughout all the generations and changes, Dick's Body Shop still strives everyday to provide their customers with the highest quality of work & service!
