

Efficiency.

Rear of refrigerator contains a vent attachment that connects to duct work that would be fed through the wall and exposed to the exterior of the residence.

In temperate climates, especially during the winter season, the refrigerator will have the option of cooling via exterior air instead of a compressor, saving tremendous amounts of energy.

