

In 1869, every man in America knew Miss Ida Lewis was a keeper.

She swam through ocean swells. She rowed wooden boats. She saved lives. She broke hearts. At a time in our nation's history when a woman's place was "in the home," Ida Lewis tended the Lime Rock Lighthouse with such skill, devotion and courage, Ulysses

S. Grant paid her a visit. The President wasn't Ida's only admirer. Over the course of her 39-year career, she received countless letters, gifts and marriage proposals from dozens of men smitten with the world's most famous female lighthouse keeper.

Now it's your turn to do something heroic. When you make a "legacy" bequest to The Lighthouse Preservation Society (LPS), you'll help preserve our country's remaining lighthouses for everyone's education and enjoyment. LPS is a nonprofit organization and a proud recipient of the Presidential Achievement Award. For more information about LPS and "legacy" bequests, visit us online at www.lighthousepreservation.org, or call 1-800-727-BEAM. Your generosity will light the way for future generations.
