War Letter Repository

Project is a conceptual design looking at what it means to write and draw. It began by looking at war letters which because of paper shortage would be written in multiple directions on the paper. It was that examined and interpret into a Repository to house these letters.