

City in the Air Arata Isozaki

Reinterpreting Metabolism, 1961

Construction Phasing

Metabolist buildings were put together capsule by capsule. After a main core has been established, the capsules are added with a crane which is often times at the top of the main core for ease and flexibility of construction.

individual mass

