

DESIGNMODEL construction

Focused on the "isolated" location of New Zealand the furniture addresses this unique market and environment. It consists of local macrocarpa and cherry timber and is therefore cheap to produce in NZ without additional costs of overseas shipping. Constructed in various layers of timber it can get easily disassembled and saves packing material and shipping costs.

