

FINAL DESIGN & HANDLING

A redesign of the traditional EST (electric stimulation therapy) device addresses the user needs of a safe therapy. It combines a clear user interface with the freedom to move during the treatment without running the risk of an faulty treatment. Instead of hiding the device the design underlines the idea to show it during treatment and walk around with it.

