

the existing school building

The project required addition of new practice and performance spaces to the existing School of Music of the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. The proposed design sought to add dynamism, openness and an identity to the School.

the existing site plan

The proposal connected the existing Krannert Center for Performing arts with an underground tunnel. The new blocks are staggered from the street to reduce the impact of the architecture on the human scale.

SECTION THROUGH THE ATRIUM

A new atrium space is designed which connects all the 5 levels visually and brings in light and provides a space for interaction between the students and faculty
