Technology has become incorporated into many aspects of our daily lives and has entered and changed many personal and intimate connections and interactions people once had before its involvement. Develop a solution to reconnect and establish a user relationship to an everyday task that has been lost by technologies advances in our lives.

Brief