

You are taking an important step to enhance your overall customer service program.

CultureSmart offers cultural and linguistic training in a variety of languages to the medical community covering topics ranging from medical interpreting ethics and biomedicine to patient satisfaction and leadership development.

Using a hands-on approach specifically designed for the health care industry, trainees will improve interactions between their organizations and the limited English proficient clients they serve.