

As the rocket boosters ignited and Apollo 11 began launching, the gantry (a bridgelike structure used for servicing the rocket) gradually disconnected, allowing the Saturn V to accelerate.