

In 1881 in a small New England town a beverage was born way before its time. This beverage, made from the finest Jamaican ginger and pure cane sugar came to be loved world-wide. It was known as Clicquot Club and had a reputation for being of the finest quality. The Clicquot legacy was nearly snuffed out with the advent of super-sweet colas and syrupy fruit flavors, but the old recipe survived!

You now have a rare opportunity to taste one of the finest carbonated refreshments bottled in the United States and you may do so knowing that Clicquot Club is made with all-natural ingredients, just as the original founders intended over a century ago.
