

As soon as she approaches the clock, the alarm button turns inside immediately.

She has to turn the knob to a position randomly assigned by the program each time in order for the button to turn back.