CORPORATE ENVIRONMENTS

Interior design and interior architecture involve an intimate understanding of three dimensional space and spatial relationships.

Skillful corporate environments are the result of a shared vision between client and designer.

I was fortunate in my first job to have worked with an incredibly intuitive designer, Frank Failla, and his partner and ID Hall-of-Famer, Marv Affrime. As primary model builder I was the first to see the design sketches, and it was my charge to translate every detail and material into its first three dimensional prototype.
