

Champions @ Play

This a registered trademark of The New York Yankees

I attempt to give you a play-by-play adrenaline rush visually. Capturing the feeling of being at an all-star game of the home team. Giving you the viewer a more accurate description of the subject matter. It makes for a clearer picture with enhanced details that otherwise might have gone unnoticed and therefore left unmentioned. Giving you the experience of going behind the scenes, while telling you a more complete and accurate story. It's like hitting one out the park, every time. Go Yankees!

Dismembering A Franchise

This is the story of the knocking down of the old Yankees' stadium and selling everything including the kitchen sink for the right price.

For me, it's like hitting a home run every time at bat. I get the simplest joyous feeling of accomplishment doing my passion in life, creating these graphic illustrations. Filled with tidbits of detailed information to reveal the untold story, one square at a time.
