

Oxfam

International

Living off landfill

Between 1-2% of the global population make a living through recycling landfill. The “Living off Landfill” kit aims to teach those in poverty to create products from fused plastic bags. The user can then adapt their newly found skills away from the landfill site to create their own products to sell.

