

Model Development

Using the sketches, I made scale models. The one on the left would feature the zip apart method, while the one of the right has three separate compartments.