

Determining to go with a form that seemed to let the straps appear as if they were growing out of the body of the bag to wrap around the user, I felt this was a very well representation of the Form in Motion theme

