

compartment below work surface conceals personal belongings induction charging strip integrated into work surface for wireless charging of personal devices slim white profile creates the impression that it is the inverse of the black steel ribbon that runs throughout the space