

CARES

Each year, Covidien donates millions of dollars of healthcare products to support global health and humanitarian needs, medical missions and disaster relief. From wound dressings and endotracheal tubes to generators and surgical supplies, product donations have long been an integral part of our charitable giving.

CARES

Covidien partners with leading organizations including the National Association of Community Health Centers and Operation Smile whose missions and values align with addressing the specific health needs of people in our communities. Between corporate partnerships and locally-funded grants, Covidien has awarded more than 100 financial grants annually.

CARES

Covidien has an employee Community Liaison network covering more than 25 countries where designated employees diligently work to organize volunteer activities and implement a variety of COVIDIEN CARES initiatives including local grant funding.

CARES

Covidien actively encourages its employees to volunteer in their local communities through team-based volunteer activities with organizations such as local health centers, hospices and food pantries in more than 50 Covidien locations worldwide.
