

This was the rendered floor plan that I created for the Middleton Hills project. While my partner was working on the scale model, I was assigned to create the perspectives through Sketch Up. This floor plan was hand rendered with markers and colored pencils. The site plan was created through AutoCAD. This is an image of the actual presentation board for the final.

