

IDEATION

The first stage was to individually get as many ideas out as possible. Then we further refined them individually to best incorporate solutions addressing the key concerns of the consumers we discovered during the research phase.