

Ever worked with a colleague who:

- Delivered subpar work?
- Missed important deadlines?
- Always talked smack about the company and staff?
- Treated clients like spoiled cabbage?

Right hole, really wrong peg.

A bad hire (aka Zombie, The Working Dead) can bring down the whole team—and turn your work life into a low-budget horror film. That's why we're on a mission to save you from ever having to work with one again.

Just show your favorite hiring manager this handy infographic to tell them just how much damage a bad hire can cause.

You might want to wait until after lunch to take a look. The actual cost of a bad hire is pretty gruesome.

When you're done being grossed out, don't forget to share the like on Facebook, Twitter, or your favorite social network.

And we'd love to hear your feedback!

Your friends at Vitamin T